

CSCI 402: Mobile Application Development

This course will introduce students to developing applications which target mobile devices. Students will be introduced to many issues unique to mobile applications, including synchronization, remote data access, security and sometimes-connected networks. They will research topics in these areas and develop a significant project which demonstrates their knowledge and understanding of these issues.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites/Permissions:

CSCI 354

Program:

Computer Science